By the Captains Calef, Callahan and Symmes, from London, and Captain M'Fadgean from Sunderland, arrived ſince our laſt, we have the following Advices, viz.

LONDON, July 9. 1773.

IT is currently reported that Mr. Pownal has accepted the Government of New England, at the ſtrong ſolicitations of Adminiſtration, from principles the moſt praiſe worthy, viz. that of reſtoring unanimity and harmony between our moſt gracious ſovereign and that loyal People.

July 8. The hearing of the important American Cauſe which was to have come on before the Privy Council as this Day, is deferred till next Week at the Inſtigation of the Governor's Solicitor, who lodged the Appeal from the Report of the Lords of Trade.

July 9. Yeſterday morning, preciſely at 9 o'clock, came on in the Court of King's-Bench, Weſtminſter, the much-talked-of action of Scandalum Magnatum, laid by Lord Sandwich, againſt Mr. Miller, the Printer of the London Evening-Poſt.

After the evidences were gone through, the Attorney General replied, then Lord Mansfield gave a ſhort charge to the jury, wherein he did little more than recapitulate the evidence; concluding, that in reſpect to the damages, they were competent judges how they ſhould act, without his interference. The jury at about a quarter after one retired, when about three o'clock they returned, and brought in a verdict for TWO THOUSAND POUNDS damages.

July 11. All the Letters from the Continent agree, that the Electors of the Empire are extremely ſolicitous to know the Intention of his Pruſſian Majeſty in making ſuch vaſt warlike Preparations, and moſt of them are in Pain for the Security of their Territories.

July 13. Yeſterday an extraordinary Board of Trade was held at the Plantation Office, Whitehall, on ſpecial Affairs, at which the Earl of Dartmouth preſided.

On Tueſday Evening died the Right Hon. Lord Tyrawley, Colonel of the 2d Regiment of Foot Guards, Field Marſhal of his Majeſty's Land Forces, and one of his Majeſty's moſt Hon. Privy Council, in an advanced Age, after a lingering Illneſs.

July 16. Earl Waldegrave will be appointed Colonel of the Coldſtream Regiment of Foot Guards late Tyrawley.

Lord Townſhend is to have the Queen's Regiment of Dragoon Guards, not the Coldſtream, as mentioned.

General Harvey will be appointed Governor of Portſmouth.

Col. Taylor, is appointed Colonel of the 28th Regt.

On Sunday his Majeſty's Hair was cut off, and he wore a fine Spaniſh Fly Wig of the exact Colour of his Eyebrows. This kind of Hair is exceedingly ſcarce, and it was with the utmoſt Difficulty it was procured at a Warehouſe in Spital fields.

The Report of the Lords of Trade and Plantation upon the Conduct of an American Governor, (which was to have come on a fortnight paſt) is finally determined to be rehearſed on Thurſday next the 22d Inſt. at eleven o'clock preciſely at Whitehall in the Council Chamber. The Lords have Summonſes to attend, and the Parties are to be heard by their Council: Mr. Dunning and Mr. Ambler for the Report, Mr. Skinner and Mr. Hotham for the Governor.

July 20. Letters from Rome, dated the 29th ult. aſſure us, that all the Effects and papers of the Jeſuits, in their colleges and houſes, have been ſeiſed and ſealed up, throughout the Eccleſiaſtical State, and that they are to be all baniſhed by the 15th of Auguſt next. The Bull for their ſuppreſſion has already appeared, and begins with the words Soli Deo, &c. In it, among other crimes, the Jeſuits are accuſed of having falſified Bulls of the Sovereign Pontiffs.

July 22. There are Letters in Town from Carthagena, in the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies, which relate, that the Revolution of the Natives of Chili and the Southern Provinces of Peru was entirely compleated in the Month of December laſt; that the Spaniards were totally driven out of the Country and a Deſcendant of the ancient Incas placed on the Throne of thoſe extenſive Territories.

A Piece of very rich Silk Brocade is now making for a great Perſonage, by an eminent Weaver near Spitalfields, which, without either the Ornament of Gold or Silver, its ſaid will amount to Fifty Guineas per Yard.

July 23. The Ocean, Namure, Terrible, Keot, Thunder, Reſolution and Triumph Men of War arrived at Plymouth from a Cruize.

A Merchant of Charles-Town, in the Province of Maſſachuſets-Bay, has invented a Method to ſave the great Expence Diſtillers of all Kinds of Spirit are at to condenſe the Vapour or Steams ariſing in the Worm-Tub, or Steam Veſſel of any Form, and, by a ſimple Method, to keep cold Water for that Purpoſe conſtantly applied to the Worm, ſtrait Tube, or Veſſel of any ſhape that any one ſhall prefer.

July 24. We are extremely glad to acquaint our Readers, that her Majeſty is entirely recovered from her late Indiſpoſition.

a diſpute between Gov.r Wentworth & Mr Lewis

It was reported in London, that the ſtore ſhip which was accidentally burnt in this harbour, in May laſt, was ſet on fire by ſome of the inhabitants of this metropolis, a great number of whom were taken up and committed to goal.—It is probable, there has been more Letter-writing.

Messieurs Edes & Gill,

THE various methods that have been used by the British administration, to carry their favorite point of enslaving America, is a strong reason why we should be still watchful of every manœuvre, and by no means flatter ourselves with the prospect of any essential change of measures, at least till we see a total change of ministers. I mean till his Majesty shall be graciously pleased to admit into his councils such men only, whose minds are enlarged enough to conceive that the liberties of America are as sacred as those of Britain, and that mutual friendship is of as much importance to the mother country, as it is to the colonies, and perhaps more.

When a weak and injudicious ministry prevail'd on the British House of Commons to give & grant to his Majesty the property of the Colonies without their consent, it was fondly imagined that their right thus to do would not be disputed. But it was disputed: And the reasoning against it urged by some of the greatest men in England, as well as America, was so forceable as to induce a repeal of the Stamp-Act. Unfortunately indeed our friends in Parliament could not effect this repeal, until an Act was passed declaratory of the right and authority of the King, Lords and Commons in the British parliament assembled, to make laws binding on his Majesty's subjects in America, in all cases whatever; and consequently to continue the stamp-duty or make any other revenue laws binding in America, as they should judge proper. It is plain therefore that the repeal was brought about upon principles directly the reverse of those which were advanced by the Americans: But the Americans had not then acknowledged the principles to be lost. Hence it became immediately a case of absolute necessity that the right of parliament should be exercised again; not only to serve the original purpose of administration, but also that the Americans, by an unavoidable necessity of submitting to it, might be supposed to have at least tacitly acknowledged the right: And this has been since, and we have reason to think, is still an object of particular attention. We have seen ministers of very different characters who have filled the American department, yet their sentiments with regard to this great and important question of the right of parliament, have been precisely the same. And though it may be highly necessary that the Americans should have a thorough understanding of the real principles and designs of a minister in that department, they have surely no right to find fault with him for pursuing measures which are agreeable to his own principles. Each takes his own method, and when one fails of carrying the darling point by the terror of fleets and armies, another hopes to succeed in a more gentle way. A people may be coaxed or flattered into concessions, when they cannot be made to comply by force. —When the resentment and spirit of this people arose superior to the terror of a mercenary standing army, as it every now & then will until it is totally suppress'd, those who had warmly solicited for a standing army to subdue even the murmurs of the people, began to alter their tone; and when they found it an impracticable thing to force us explicitly to acknowledge a tyranny, they artfully endeavoured to prevail upon us to do it implicitly—"No one has attempted to infringe your rights", my beloved countrymen; "you have lost none of your liberties," you may with great sincerity return your thanks even to almighty God "that your rights and liberties are continued." There are no complaints but what come from "a group of gloomy mortals," who are tormenting themselves with groundless apprehensions, or else from a set of men of "desperate fortunes," and "wicked designs." They clamour at the parliament's taxing you without your consent! But this is no infringement of your constitution, because the parliament has a just right to tax you without your consent. The exercise of this right may indeed, considering your circumstances, be an hardship upon you; and we agree, that if you will not dispute that right, "much may be done by humble petitions and representations of the hardship of certain measures." And if the continuance of them is not judged by parliament, who are the only judges of these matters, to be a case of absolute necessity, they will be removed; provided always that your petitions are accompanied with a conduct conformable to that "submission and duty which they ought to express." Such has often been the language of Chronus and other ministerial writers in times past, and such is the language of some at this day. —These were the terms which Lord Hillsborough propos'd on his entrance into the American department. The late agent Mr. De Berdt in one of his letters wrote, that his Lordship professed a great regard for the interest of America; and he thought the only thing that could be done to serve us, was to keep the matter of right out of sight. The profess'd design of that minister it seems was to serve us. But America has not yet thought it wise to agree to his Lordship's politick plan to wink their liberties out of sight, for the sake of a temporary accommodation. Dr. Franklin, who is perhaps as penetrating a genius as his Lordship, extended his views a little farther. I hope, says he, in a letter dated in 1771, "the colony assemblies will show by repeated resolves that they know their Rights, and do not lose sight of them. Our growing importance will ere long compel an acknowledgment of them, and establish and secure them to our posterity." And he adds, "I purpose to draw up a Memorial stating our Rights and Grievances, and in the name and behalf of the province, protesting particularly against the late innovations. Whether speedy redress is or is not the consequence, I imagine it may be of good use to keep alive our claims, and show that we have not given up the contested points." It seems to have been the judgment of this great man, that a State of Rights should accompany a complaint of grievances, and that decent and manly protests against particular innovations have the surest tendency to an effectual, if not a speedy removal of them. vid pa, 359 A.

The Author of the COMPLEAT SURVEYOR, To the PUBLIC in general, and to the SUBSCRIBERS in particular.

GENTLEMEN,

GIVE me leave to address you once more on the subject of my intended publication, and to inform you that though my manuscript copy has met with the greatest approbation, I have not yet been favoured with a sufficiency of subscribers to enable me to carry it into immediate execution, without running too great a hazard.

I must therefore request the favour of those gentlemen who have done me the honour of subscribing, that they would be pleased to indulge me with a few months longer, in which time gives me leave to request the other well-wishers to mathematical learning among the public, that they would be pleased to bestow their generous assistance to the publication of so useful an undertaking, in which they will greatly oblige, their

Most Obedient Humble Servant,
S. GALE.

I Have perused several parts of Mr. Gale's manuscript copy, of the work he proposes to publish by subscription on the subject of surveying, and do believe, it will be a very useful work to most of the surveyors in North-America, as well as others who are desirous of making themselves acquainted with both the theory and practical part of that art.

Feb. 26th, 1772. STIRLING.
New-York, Feb. 26th, 1772.

I Have perused such parts of Mr. Gale's manuscript copy, as relates to practical surveying in America (which has been omitted in the former authors) and I find it to be well handled, & worthy of the encouragement of the public.

ALEXANDER COLDEN.
Surveyor-General, of the Colony of New-York.

HAVING perused all the most material parts of Mr. Gale's manuscript copy of the compleat surveyor, I beg leave to recommend it as a work, in my opinion, well deserving the encouragement of the public.

Philadelphia, March 9th, 1772. DAVID RITTENHOUSE.
Philadelphia, March 10th, 1772.

I Have perused several parts of Samuel Gale's manuscript copy of the complete surveyor, and am fully convinced, that the rules therein laid down in practical surveying, and correctly calculating the areas of such surveys when made, especially that part relating to surveying our rough lands in America, may be of great advantage to those concerned in surveying, as well as others; and therefore think it deserves public encouragement.

JOHN LUKENS.
Surveyor-General of Pennsylvania.

I Have perused Mr. Gale's compleat surveyor, and am much pleased with his manner of treating the subject. The publishing of it will be a general advantage, as it contains every thing necessary for a compleat surveyor; his rules are extremely good, and his demonstrations easier and better adapted to the understanding of mankind, than any I have ever met with.

Bristol, May 22d, 1772. JOHN A. DE NORMANDIE.
